A motto that might adorn the interior walls of Akron's Fire Stations, without impairing the efficiency of the Department: Harmony, Subordination, Contentment.

For some reason unexplained the Directors of the Pan-American Exposition have not yet acted upon Councilman Walker's suggestion for an "Akron Day" at Buffalo.

How Akron managed to get along for a whole day, with every official from Judge Anderson down absent from the city, was something of a marvel to the people.

The Steel trust takes pleasure in announcing that it has a pool of $200,000,000 at its disposal to prevent a slump in the market price of its stock while it settles its affair with the workmen.

While Senator Beveridge is engaged with his European trip, some of his political enemies in Indiana are planning to defeat him for re-election. The Senator's road to the Presidency doesn't seem to be as bright and sunny as his speeches.

"Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, ex-Governor of the State of New York, and perpetual Colonel of the Rough Riders, has one eye on Hon. Thomas C. Platt and the other on the west," says the Brooklyn Citizen. The Colonel needs another eye to watch Senator Hanna.

The condition of Akron's treasury recalls Corporal Tanner's noted interjection about "God help the surplus." The oldest inhabitant may remember when there was a surplus in the Akron treasury, but that was before the political pull had helped the surplus by helping itself.

France has notified the Sultan to pay up, and if he doesn't, the French Minister will be recalled and diplomatic relations will be broken off. Considering the good success Uncle Sam had collecting his bill from the European invalid, it might pay France to engage an American collector.

M. Santos Dumont and his dirigible balloon are receiving a great deal of free advertising. The dispatches from Paris, announcing the daily disaster to Mr. Dumont tell how he lost control of his dirigible "while circling about Eiffel Tower" and fell to the ground, but fortunately, as usual, was "not injured."

"The United States is sending horses and mules to the British General. Tell them they are helping to murder us." This is the message President Kruger sends to the American people through an American minister who visited him at The Hague. Neutrality nowadays consists largely of keeping on good terms with the stronger fellow.

Twice within a week the Canton News-Democrat has advised its readers to "keep cool" with reference to the steel strike. Wasted counsel. When the mild-mannered and platitude-loving citizens of Canton threaten to let go under the high pressure of opinions, it is time for other cities to examine their safety valves.

Oscar L. Triggs, the University of Chicago professor who compares Rockefeller with Shakespeare and characterizes church hymns as doggerel, told his class in English literature yesterday that the poetry of Longfellow and Oliver Wendell Holmes is trivial and unworthy of consideration. It begins to look as if the Chicago Probate Court may have a job before long.

Although only a village, Doylestown can give the people of many cities lessons in public spirit. The liberality of the people of that town in providing the means for the rebuilding of the Empire Mower and Reaper factory, is being repeated now in their efforts to obtain a branch railroad for their community. Doylestown ought to be in Summit county.

A special commission consisting of the high officers of the Pan-American Exposition has been appointed to visit the President and invite him to attend the Buffalo show. September 10 has been chosen as the day, when they will get out their brass band and banners and make the Presidential call. No doubt the President would enjoy his visit more if permitted to take his own time and go in his own way, but that would add nothing to the gate receipts.

A REPUBLICAN EDITOR'S VIEW.

Mr. I. F. Mack, editor of the Sandusky Register, one of the few outspoken Republican papers of Ohio, says:

"The Republican papers that talk of a bolt among the Democrats and a Bryan convention to nominate a Bryan Democrat for Governor may think that some of their readers will believe them to be in earnest, but the editors who publish such stuff know that their talk is all nonsense."

"The Democrats of Ohio are in the fight to win, and they will keep it hot for the Republican managers from now on until the polls close. If the latter win they will not do so by a split in the Democratic ranks. We have never known them to be more united in this section or more hopeful of victory. So if we may judge of the situation throughout the State there is no indication of internal eruption in the Democratic party of Ohio this year. Of course there are rumors of disturbances, but, like the old time milk sickness, the disturbances are in the adjoining county, and finally are in the minds of sensation mongers and never materialize."

WHY THEY ADVERTISE.

(From the Philadelphia Record.)

The great development of newspaper advertising has not been due to the efforts of publishers, but to the competition in business. As the cities have grown the business houses have multiplied, and the most enterprising merchants have enlarged their share of trade by calling the people's attention to their wares. This has forced all merchants who want more than a neighborhood business to advertise. Now the people have the habit of looking in the newspapers for shopping information, and the establishment which is not advertised is out of the race.

WISE and OTHERWISE.

Oysters soon.

"Dig up" for the gas.

Love laughs at trustees, also.

Druggists deplore the scarcity of roasting ears.

It might not be a bad idea to send the city officials out of town permanently, everything went along so smoothly without them.

If the differences between Council and Commissioners can be adjusted while they are together for a whole day, the picnic can be said to have done a good work.

A man who could lose a purse containing $200 and find it again several hours later, after scores of people had walked over it, is just the chap Akron ball teams want as a mascot.

For the benefit of those who suspect that the city officials might disport themselves with too much hilarity because of being away from home, it may be wise to state that Euclid Beach Park is as dry as a temperance lecture this year.

"Akron is a great type-writer town," said Mr. H. W. Pratt, of Cleveland, a typewriter salesman, at the Buchtel last night. "For instance, more than twice as many typewriters are used in Akron as in Canton, and a great many more are used here than in Youngstown. Akron is ahead of any city in the use of typewriters."

Miss Mattie Beale, the telephone girl from Wichita, who was fortunate enough to win one of the prize lots at Lawton, has resigned the job with almost the alacrity a resignation was produced by one dog-catcher at a place called Akron, not many months ago. Shooting cowboys, hanging people, drinking whiskey, and other things which are a part of the town marshal's work in the bounding, ozone-laden precincts of Oklahoma, evidently did not seem to her to be the psychological fruition of the romantic dreams of her idle moment at the switchboard, so she has quit.

"The growth of the popularity of the summer theatres about Akron," said the Graciously Information Distributor, "has been almost phenomenal. A very few years ago there were no summer theatres here at all, with the possible exception of an occasional tent show which broke into town and left between two days. Now we have two pavilion theatres which do a very profitable business and it is almost as much a part of an Akronian's weekly program during the hot weather to attend the show as to eat his dinner. The improved street car services of the last few years has been the principal cause of this jump in popularity. People can board a car on a hot night, attend one of the theatres, enjoy a cool ride, and return home at a very reasonable hour."

"Even Barberton has a summer theatre now."

WHO!

It Is an Interesting Question.

Daugherty May be In the Race

But He Is Not a Candidate Now.

Speculation About Democratic Candidate For Senator.

(Special Correspondence.)
Columbus, Aug. 9.—Hon. M. A. Daugherty, of Lancaster, chairman of the Democratic State Executive committee, denies most vigorously the report that he is a candidate for a seat in the United States Senate. He declines, however, to express an opinion as to the probable choice of the party. Mr. Daugherty is a dangerous rival of former Congressman Lutz for the Congressional nomination next year and the friends of Mr. Lutz had hoped that Mr. Daugherty would be made the candidate for the Senatorship.

If the Democrats succeed in electing a majority of the Legislature, there promises to be a hard fight for the seat in the Senate. One thing is certain. Neither John R. McLean nor Tom L. Johnson can be elected, nor does either plan to make a fight for the office, the Republican organs to the contrary notwithstanding.

Granting that each will be a candidate, neither could be successful. Each would have some strength, but neither would have enough, for, at best, the majority will be very small. Johnson will be able to control enough votes to prevent McLean from seizing the prize. McLean realizes the conditions and he is not a candidate. The man whose election he will advocate, in case of Democratic success, is Hon. James B. Campbell, former Congressman and former Governor.

Hon. John L. Zimmerman, Colonel Kilbourne's rival for the nomination for the Governorship, would also be a strong candidate and it is yet possible that Mr. Daugherty may change his mind. The situation is interesting.

Mr. Daugherty will not assume permanent charge of Democratic State headquarters in this city until next week. He called at the offices in the Columbia building yesterday, saw that everything was running smoothly and returned to Lancaster for a few days. The death of General Dick has delayed the work of organization at Republican headquarters and politics is slow in Ohio.

OUTING

Of Officials a Glorious Affair.

Attended by Seventy-Five People

And Everybody Had a Good Time.

A Day When Cares and Worries Were Laid Aside.

Everybody knows it was a nice day, and as the best of good humor and kindly solicitude for the pleasure of one another predominated, the picnic of city officials, held at Euclid Beach park Thursday was certainly a most successful affair.

It was free from any tired feeling, from start to finish, and everybody was interested, sociable and gay. The trip was made in two special A. B. & C. cars, furnished free of charge by the N. O. T. Co. The party left Akron at 8:10 and Euclid Beach park was reached at 11 o'clock. All the way from Akron to the park, conversation never lagged, nor was dull. Every topic from a new government for Akron to the idiosyncracies of ex-Dog Catcher Steeley was discussed, and many good and laughable remarks were made. Both cars were provided with a bountiful supply of cigars, fruit and chewing gum. Each car had a smoking compartment, and so conditions were pleasant for both men and women.

A little incident, while en route to Cleveland, will serve to illustrate the height to which the good humor of the crowd had climbed. A short stop had been made at the A. B. & C. power house, and thrusting his head through a window, Prisonkeeper Washer saw a man who not long ago was before the Mayor on a charge of intoxication and begging.

"Hello, Swipes," yelled John; "I thought you were supposed to have left this neighborhood."

"Sure enough, there's the same fellow we ordered to leave," said Mayor Doyle, "and he's sufficiently intoxicated to warrant his being run in now. But say—let us give him a banana."

The idea seemed good and Prisonkeeper Washer pitched the fellow a banana, to grasp which caused the vagrant several falls in the dust, and two or three turns over.

At the park, to which the trip from Cleveland was made from the Public Square over the Euclid ave. line, everything was pleasant; the lake was just rough enough to drive waves against the beach with a force which made bathing exceptionally fine, and as soon as dinner was eaten—in a summer building overlooking the lake, and through which the breezes swept with a delightful effect—the picnicers began finding their pleasure in various ways. The dinner was good and well served. After it was eaten, there were bathing, attending the theater, walking back and forth on the pier, and those who had children with them were fortunate to have excursions for riding on the merry-go-round and the miniature train. Some stayed at the beach until late in the afternoon; others went into the city shortly after dinner, and in some way or other everybody had a good time. Supper was eaten in the city, and on the return trip the cars left the Public Square at 8 o'clock. Akron was reached at 10.

Those attending the picnic were Engineer John W. Payne, wife and son Willie, and daughter, Mildred. (The picnic might also be taken, in a measure, as a pleasant family reunion for Mrs. Payne, for in the crowd were her mother, Mrs. W. E. Orchard, of Toledo; and her sisters, Misses Edith and Inez Orchard, of Toledo; Mrs. C. C. Cowles, of Lima; Mrs. Harry McCune, Akron; Mrs. Carrie Sanford, Lima; Mrs. Sanford was accompanied by her daughter, Helen, and son, Robert; Mrs. C. G. Wilkinson, and son, Harold, Toledo; Mayor Doyle, City Prosecutor T. E. Wells, Mrs. Wm. Haury, Councilman and Mrs. Seidel and daughter, Irene, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCune and son, Glen, Captain and Mrs. Chas. Just and son Frank; Fire Chief and Mrs. Mertz and son, Raymond; Commissioner and Mrs. Wilson, Commissioner and Mrs. Houser, Commissioner and Mrs. McMillen and son Frank, City Solicitor and Mrs. Esquite, Prisonkeeper and Mrs. Washer, Councilman and Mrs. Martin and child, Assistant City Clerk and Mrs. Mahar and daughter, Regina, Mrs. Carlton, Captain and Mrs. Guillet, Frank Bonstedt, Chas. Borst, W. G. Good, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Botzum and son, Councilman and Mrs. Hill, Col. and Mrs. Hoye, Mrs. Dan McGarry, Mildred Mason, Chloe Newbauer, Mrs. Mary Putt, Don Pardee, Jr., of Wadsworth, Wm. T. Martin, M. J. Hallinan, Mayor's Clerk Irvin, Miss Minnie Rampanelli, Street Supervisor and Mrs. Button, and daughter, Bonnie, and son, Roy, Miss Grace Cabow.

STAGE STRUCK GIRL

Brings Sorrow to Her Father, a Preacher.

Findlay, O., Aug. 9.—His twenty-year-old daughter wanted to go on the stage, his wife encouraged the girl in her infatuation, and desolation reigns in the household of Rev. J. D. Green, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of McComb.

Sunday Mr. Green preached at a church five miles from home and came to Findlay to attend the camp meeting. He returned late at night and found his family—wife, daughter and son—up and dressed, although it was midnight. He thought nothing and retired to his own room. In the morning he found the house deserted, with a note lying on the table, saying not to expect them back, as they had gone to Buffalo, where the daughter, Cora, intended to become an actress. Rev. Green is completely broken up over the affair, as he had not the slightest knowledge of his wife's intentions. They have never had any strife except over this one question, but he vows he will never forgive them or take them back again.

It is said that the father himself was an actor before he took up the study of theology. He is strongly dramatic in the pulpit.

PICNICS.

Barborton Has Two More Ready For Business.

(Special Correspondence.)

Barborton, Aug. 9.—The annual picnic of the American Sewer Pipe Co. will be held at Wheeling, Aug. 24, and a big crowd is expected to attend from Barborton. The distance which will have to be traveled to and from Wheeling, will preclude the possibility of anything more than a very short stay, and the ride will be the feature for those attending from this vicinity.

The Alden Rubber Co. will picnic at Lakeside park tomorrow. A program of sports is arranged and the picnic cannot be other than a complete success.

RENINGERS.

Their Reunion Was a Happy Affair.

The Reninger family reunion was held at the home of Philip Weaver, held at Loyal Oak, Thursday, and was at tended by 78 members of the family and friends. After partaking of a bountiful dinner, addresses were listened to and the balance of the day spent in talking over old times. Mrs. Sellers, aged 82, and Mrs. Dan Weaver, aged 78, were present, and enjoyed the day greatly.
